

Direct-to-Consumer Product Update

Brisbane, Australia, 11 March 2020 – ResApp Health Limited (ASX:RAP), a leading digital health company developing smartphone applications for the diagnosis and management of respiratory disease, today provided an update on its direct-to-consumer product being developed under the Startup Creosphere program. In the program, ResApp collaborated with the consumer healthcare business unit of Sanofi on building a consumer health-focused product using ResApp’s novel respiratory disease diagnostic algorithms. As of the 8th of March, Sanofi has not exercised the option to enter into exclusive negotiations for a pilot phase under the scope of the Startup Creosphere program.

Tony Keating, CEO and Managing Director of ResApp commented, “We are excited about the possibilities of bringing our clinical-grade algorithms to a smartphone application for at-home consumer use, and we continue to advance the product with a number of interested parties.”
